Benefit Type Details defined on the next page

To determine whether there are meaningful differences between basic prescription drug coverage options offered by the same PDP sponsor in a region, CMS' analysis focuses on whether there are significant differences in proposed beneficiary out-of-pocket costs and/or formularies.

AE - When Part D plan sponsors (either PDP or MA-PD) want to offer a benefit with a structure that differs from the standard benefit design, statutes allow these differing plan designs as long as they are actuarially equivalent (AE) or better than the standard Part D plan design.

BA - For basic alternative (BA) coverage, the plan sponsor may combine features. This might include a reduction in the deductible, changes in cost sharing (for example, tiered co-payments), and a modification of the Initial Coverage Limit (ICL) , as long as the actuarial value of coverage equals the defined standard drug coverage benefit . In Basic Alternative plans there is no additional premium required.

EA - Enhanced alternative (EA) coverage includes basic coverage and supplemental benefits. These supplemental benefits provide for a package of benefits that exceeds the actuarial value of standard coverage. Supplemental benefits can consist of either reduction in cost sharing, or coverage of drugs that are specifically excluded from the definition of Part D drugs. Enhanced Alternative plans have an additional premium required.
