James N. Adams

1944 - 1946
This volume is intended as the first of a series which, if time permits, will be extended to include the complete files of the Illinois State Journal and its predecessors (the Sangamon Journal, Sangamo Journal and Illinois Journal) from the first issue, November 10, 1831, to date, and will be kept up by the issuance of another volume each year after the index is finally brought to the current date. In large measure the comments in this Foreword are meant to apply not only to the present volume, but to all future volumes in the series.

The compiler's goal has been to include every item pertaining to the State of Illinois; to any county, city, or other political subdivision thereof; to any body of water or watercourse within or bounding Illinois; to any inhabitant of the State (including items relating to any inhabitant before or after his time in Illinois); to any partnership, firm, company, corporation, society, or similar organization within the State; to any visitor to the State, during his visit; and to any person, firm, etc., connected in any way with Illinois. Out-of-the-state, and even foreign, newspapers are included in the index when it appears that they were received as exchanges by the Journal, which quoted therefrom. The realization of this goal, in any index as large as this, which contains over 27,000 headings, some of which occupy as much as two full pages, will necessarily be imperfect; but the compiler hopes that those who use this index will not only point out errors in the text, typographical or otherwise, but will give him any additional information they may possess relative to the first. All such items in the index were included in the first publication, in the abscence of fuller information; or any information they may possess which would prove the identity of two or more persons now listed separately, or that entries now listed under one heading belong to two or more persons.

The entire index is arranged under one alphabetization, including personal and non-personal entries; and the order of entry under each heading, except the large entries subdivided by subject, is chronological according to the date of appearance in the Journal - which is sometimes not the strict chronological order or occurrence. In large entries subdivided by subject, the subjects are in alphabetical order, except for Miscellaneous which is always last, and the order of entry under subject is chronological, as above. However, when several entries of different dates are on the same subject (e.g., several candidacies for the same office at one-, two-, or four-year intervals), they are all combined, put in the correct chronological place of the first, and not repeated in the chronological places of the succeeding entries. It has seemed to the compiler, and to those he has consulted, that the convenience of having all such entries in one place outweighs the slight inconvenience of a departure from strict chronological order in this instance.

In order to economize space, the entries have been given in as few words, and with as many abbreviations, as possible, without (as the compiler hopes) creating ambiguity; references to persons, etc., which give no information not given in a previous entry have been generally omitted; oblique references and mere mentions have been also omitted, except where no other entries under that heading existed, and then they have been inserted for further completeness; and such things as the continuing political disputes between the Journal and the Illinois State Register, where they did not refer definitely to persons in such a way as to be included under other headings, have also been omitted. This was also the greatest persuasive factor in omitting non-Illinois entries; even out-of-the-state newspapers only the first quotation is given, to show that the paper was an exchange of the Journal, unless subsequent quotations bear directly upon Illinois or Illinoisans.

There are certain items (largely election returns) which, according to the most reliable data obtainable, are erroneous, but were never corrected by the Journal. These are enclosed in brackets. An attempt has been made to edit out unbased political charges, or, where this was impracticable, to use such words as "charged," "alleged," etc.; however, the Whig bias of the Journal is bound to show in spite of all editorial effort.

The regular form of citation is: month, day, year, page, and column; e.g., Nov. 10-3:1, for November 10, 1831, page 3, column 1. The year is omitted when the same as the preceding entry (under a single heading); and in case of two or more citations from the same issue only page and column are given (preceded by a hyphen) for all after the first. Where two or more citations appear in the same column, wherever practicable the entries are separated by a dash and only one citation given. When an article runs into a different column from the one in which it began, or where several articles on the same subject are in adjoining columns, the first and last column numbers are given, separated by a hyphen; if the article concludes on a different page, without any omitted columns, the circumflex accent (') is used as an arbitrary symbol; e.g. -2:6^3:1, an article beginning on page 2, column 6, and running continuously to page 3, column 1.)

Where the names of persons seem, from reliable data, to have been spelled differently from the way they appear in the Journal, I have followed what seems to be the most reliable source; otherwise the Journal spellings have been followed literally. Where the weight of evidence seems to indicate the identity of two persons, but there is no proof on the subject, I have attempted in each case to give a cf [compare] cross-reference from each form to the other.

This index has been made from the Journal files in the Illinois State Historical Library, which is the most nearly complete collection in existence. We have obtained photostatic copies of all issues missing in our files whose existence elsewhere we could ascertain, and advertised futilely for the rest. The following copies are still missing (in 1849 and 1850 the weekly and daily issues which we have make, taken together, a complete record for those years):

In addition, the following issues are out of place in the Historical Library files, and consultation of this list will probably be necessary to discover the originals where citations are given for these issues:

The extra of Dec. 30, 1832, is bound (with pages 2 and 1 in that order) between pages 2 and 3 of Nov. 6, 1832. Nov. 15 and 3 (in that order), 1834, are bound between August 30 and Sept. 6, 1834; pages 3-4 of Nov. 29 are bound after pages 1-2 of Dec. 27, and vice versa.

Pages 3-4 of Oct. 24, 1835, follow pages 1-2 of Oct. 31, and vice versa. Sept. 10, 1836, is not on the microfilm nor in the regular sequence of bound volumes; see the 1835-39 volume.

Dec. 30, 1837, not filmed nor bound, lying loose in front of 1844-47 volume. Sept. 8, Sept. 22, Oct. 6, Dec. 1, and Dec. 22, 1838, are not on the film or in the regular bound volumes; see the 1835-39 volume. Sept. 29, also unfilmed and unbound, is lying loose (in photostat) in front of 1844-47 volume. April 5, May 19, and May 21, 1839, are not on film nor in the regular bound volumes; see the 1835-39 volume. In December, what appears to be pages 3-4 of December 10 is followed by pages 3-4 of December 13, then a complete December 10 issue. The complete and half issues of December 10 do not agree on pagination; the citations are to the half-issue.

June 18, 1841, unfilmed and unbound; photostat of pages 1-2 only lying in front of 1844-47 volume. The extra of Jan. 5, 1842, follows Jan. 2, 1845: the extra of March 25, 1842, follows June 3, 1842; the extra of Aug. 12, 1842, is bound with page 2 preceding page 1, June 17, 1842, unfilmed and unbound, lying loose in front of 1844-47 volume. Two issues in this volume do not belong here: the issue of May 9, 1844, follows May 6, 1842, and a duplicate of July 16, 1841, follows July 15, 1842.

June 15 and Nov. 9, 1843, unfilmed and unbound; lying loose (the latter in photostat) in front of 1844-47 volume. March 30, April 6, April 13, April 20, April 27 [pages 1-2 photographed twice], May 4, May 11, May 18, and June 1 not bound; spliced into microfilm, negatives from Library of Congress.

Semi-weeklies of June 15, June 22, July 6, July 9, July 20, July 23, July 30, Aug. 3, Aug. 6, Aug. 17, Aug. 24, and Aug. 27 bound in (in correct places) with the regular weekly issues of 1847.

Daily issue of June 1, 1850, misdated May 27 on page 1, and bound between regular May 27 and May 28 issues.

There are many other instances of misdating by a day or two throughout the period; citations are given as of correct date of publication. Many papers do not agree in date between page 1 and the masthead of the same issue. During the weekly-issue period, however, this misdating does not put the papers out of order.

The Journal started daily publication (while continuing the weekly) in June, 1848. The only daily issue in the files of the Illinois State Historical Library prior to Jan. 1, 1849, is one bound by mistake with the 1850 file, and so bound in that it is unreadable - it could be salvaged only by breaking the 1850 binding and rebinding. For 1849 and 1850 the Library has both weekly and daily files. For 1849, as the weekly was on microfilm and in the regular sequence of bound volumes, it was used as the main basis for the index, and items occurring in the daily and not in the weekly (including the dailies for the weeks when the weekly was missing, and for the last week of the year [following the Dec. 26 weekly]) indicated by an asterisk. For 1850 neither edition was microfilmed, nor did the regular sequence of bound weeklies include 1850; therefore for that year the daily was used as the basis for the index, and the weekly used only where necessary to replace missing daily issues, and indicated by an asterisk, which therefore indicates in 1850 just the reverse of what it does in 1849.

The Journal was published semi-weekly during the legislative sessions of 1839-40 and 1840-41, i.e. a Tuesday issue in addition to the regular Friday issue. Most of these issues are bound in in regular order, and so cited. During the Constitutional Convention of 1847, the Journal's semi-weekly issues were also on Tuesdays and Fridays, but the regular weekly issue was on Thursday. See the first paragraph on this page for the semi-weekly issues in the Historical Library files. These supply the place of all the missing weeklies for 1847 but that of Sept. 30.

In conclusion let me again beg the assistance of any person in finding and correcting errors in the index, or in expanding the present citations of proper names.
