Illinois celebrates Foster Parent Appreciation Month

12 ways caregivers can mark the month

✴ Join a foster parent support group and take a friend.
✴ Take a look at your rights and responsibilities under the Foster Parent Law and remember there is a state statute to support your efforts.
✴ Pick a night to serve a cake with candles for dessert because your special family deserves a special day.
✴ Make plans with another foster family to trade an afternoon watching the others’ kids. Take the time to do something to refresh yourself.
✴ Send a card to encourage a foster parent who is having a rough time.
✴ Make a list of good parenting decisions you have made lately. Tuck it away for a “rainy day.”
✴ Write a letter to your local newspaper explaining the importance of foster care. Make the public take notice.
✴ Meet a couple of foster parent friends over coffee.
✴ Declare a “Good News Only Day.” Let someone else field the phone calls from school and settle the squabbles. You’ll have to take your turn one day the following week.
✴ Pose for a family picture with all the kids who are part of your home.
✴ Reconnect with an older youth who was once in your care.
From the DCFS Director

Richard H. Calica

As we celebrate Foster Parent Appreciation Month, I offer my personal thanks to all of you for providing a temporary safe haven for children who cannot remain safely in their homes. The department and our nonprofit partners offer a wide range of supports to assist you in providing a safe, nurturing home for children in need. But you provide them with the one thing no state or private agency can offer: love.

As I talk with foster parents across the state, I am struck by their selflessness, compassion and tenacity. Foster parents brush aside praise and speak of the joy parenting brings to them. Thanks to your love, children who have been given every reason not to trust open their heart and place their faith in you. And when the challenges of parenting arise, you push through with resilience and grace.

The department’s new resource and recruitment specialists have begun the tough task of identifying even more foster parents across Illinois who share your talent and commitment. As local plans develop, we welcome your advice and most importantly your help. If you would like to assist us in identifying friends, co-workers or relatives you believe share your strengths and your passion, or you are willing to share your experiences as a foster parent with others, please contact the supervisor for the regional recruitment specialist in your area.

Thank you again for everything you do, every day, to provide a safe, nurturing home for Illinois children.

Illinois shines statewide spotlight on Child Abuse Prevention Month

Those who do foster care can understand the key message of several events in April to raise awareness for Child Abuse Prevention Month. The theme for the first day of April was “Give, Volunteer and Act to ensure kids are safe.” DCFS joined forces with Prevent Child Abuse-Illinois, local nonprofits and elected officials to encourage everyday Illinoisans to unite to protect children.

An estimated 125,000 Illinois children are abused or neglected each year, and one in five kids are abused before age 18. DCFS receives, investigates and acts upon a report of child abuse or neglect every five minutes, child sex abuse every two hours, and a child death by abuse or neglect every day-and-a-half. DCFS Director Richard H. Calica said that while many across Illinois are doing their part to ensure safe, loving homes for kids, more can be done.

“The long run, the best solution, the only fiscally and socially responsible solution, is to prevent abuse before it starts,” said Calica.

The speakers at the James R. Thompson Center reminded the public of the importance of reporting suspected instances of child abuse. They thanked individuals for donating to agencies that support families and encouraged them to give of their own time and talents as mentors and even as foster families.

Prevent Child Abuse-Illinois and DCFS coordinated high-profile events in Chicago, Springfield, Carterville and Edwardsville. Leaders from human services organizations, elected officials and committed volunteers demonstrated the strength that comes from working together to keep children safe from abuse and neglect.
MOVIN’ ON UP: News for youth as they transition to adulthood

Older youth are about to embark on a busy season. The end of spring brings several special events designed to educate and encourage teens and young adults who are involved with DCFS.

The DCFS Office of Youth and Family Development is honoring students’ academic accomplishments with a graduation celebration in each DCFS region. Those youth in care or those formerly under DCFS care who earned a high school diploma or GED or completed a vocational program are invited to attend.

There will also be four Youth Summits that will provide teens skills to help them successfully achieve self-sufficiency.

Save the date for the events listed below. More information will be sent directly to families with youth ages 14 to 21 who are still in care. Youth who are adopted or in guardianship can also take part in the events by calling one of the support staff below.

Oversight of Foster Parent Law Implementation Plans
The Statewide Foster Care Advisory Council has wrapped up final evaluation of the Foster Parent Law Implementation Plans. As part of the plan review, council members can highlight plans that stand out and nominate them for awards in three areas:

- Dignity and Respect
- Organization/User Friendliness
- Foster Parent Involvement

The foster care programs that receive rewards are invited to a special event on May 17 where they will be honored for their commitment to the Foster Parent Law. Those outstanding plans will be featured in the next issue of Illinois Families Now and Forever®.

In addition to reviewing plans, the council members also visit agencies and DCFS regional programs to conduct interviews about how the plans are incorporated into practice. The council reported that site visits are on track to be completed on time.

Election of officers
In March and April nominations for the council’s chair and vice-chair positions were opened. The election of officers is set for the May 17 meeting. According to state statute, the council holds elections each year. The new officers will take their positions starting with the beginning of the new fiscal year on July 1.

The Statewide Foster Care Advisory Council was founded in conjunction with the Illinois Foster Parent Law. Membership consists of caregivers, agency representatives and other experts in child welfare who are appointed by the DCFS director. The mandated positions for caregivers are spread among the DCFS regions.

The council holds open meetings at least six times a year, and more as needed, in locations around the state.

The next meeting of the Statewide Foster Care Advisory Council will be on May 17 in Bloomingdale at 9 a.m.

Call the Office of Caregiver and Parent Support at 217-524-2422 for details.

“Leave no child inside,” Get out to state parks
The Illinois Department of Natural Resources (IDNR) has developed educational opportunities to teach young people about conservation and to foster an appreciation for the environment.

Children in all parts of the state can take advantage of free and low cost activities at state parks, park districts, schools and forest preserves. Youth can participate in archery, fishing, fort building, nature hikes, bird watching, rock wall climbing and camping. State parks will host many special outdoor recreational activities throughout the month of June.

Families can also visit Torstenson Educational Farm in Rockford to experience outdoor fun. Programs at the farm feature archery, fishing, nature hikes, bird watching, camping, mapmaking, land stewardship, GPS scavenger hunt, educational resource kits, survivor skills and habitat restoration.

For more information contact Jeffrey Jones, Director of Community Outreach, at 312-590-5094 or Jon Woods, youth program coordinator, at 312-720-7149. Stay updated on IDNR on Facebook at www.facebook.com/CommunityOutreachIDNR.

Many caregivers have decided to skip the paper and request electronic versions of the newsletter, Illinois Families Now and Forever®.

When you move to the online version, you still receive all the same valuable information with more benefits. It comes faster, is easier to file, saves money and protects the environment.

To make the switch, send an email to vanessa.james@illinois.gov (there is a dot before “james”). Be sure to include your name and mailing address. We will stop the hard copies and send you an e-mail each time a new issue is ready to read online.
Foster Parent Law defines caregivers’ rights and responsibilities

Before 1995, the rights and responsibilities for the individuals providing foster care were not clearly defined. Without a clear job description, caregivers, agencies and DCFS struggled to place caregivers’ rights and responsibilities within child welfare policy. It took a lengthy, coordinated effort from individual caregivers, foster care advocacy organizations, legislators and child welfare personnel to bring about the Foster Parent Bill of Rights. That document provided the foundation for the Foster Parent Law, signed on June 3, 1995.

The Foster Parent Law clearly defines 15 rights and 17 responsibilities for all Illinois families who provide foster care to children in DCFS care. The statement of rights helps foster caregivers, agencies and DCFS regions know what role caregivers will play on the child welfare team and the consideration they should receive. The statement of responsibilities helps caregivers know what will be expected of them and gives a clear understanding of the general expectations they should have of the foster care agency or DCFS regional foster care program.

The accompanying Statewide Foster Care Advisory Council Law established the council to advise DCFS about foster care issues. The council also has the responsibility to oversee the implementation of the Foster Parent Law.

Details and the full text of Foster Parent Law are included in the Foster Family Handbook. Caregivers can also request their foster care program’s annual Foster Parent Law Implementation Plan to see how it upholds the Law. The DCFS Office of Caregiver and Parent Support at 217-524-2422 can provide further information.

Caregivers have the right to:
1. Be treated with dignity, respect and consideration
2. Be provided pre-service and appropriate ongoing training to improve skills
3. Be informed on how to receive support services from the agency
4. Receive timely financial reimbursement commensurate with child’s service plan
5. Be provided a clear, written understanding of the plan concerning the child’s placement and how it will support his family relationship and cultural identity
6. Fair, timely and impartial investigations of licensing complaints
7. Receive additional information to assist in the care of a child while in placement
8. Receive specific information from DCFS and private agencies listed in Children and Family Services Act and the Child Care Act of 1969
9. Be notified of scheduled meetings and staffings in order to participate in case planning and decision-making
10. Be provided, before placement, with any information a caseworker has that is pertinent to the child’s care and the permanency plan
11. Receive written notice of any change in a child’s case plan or of plans to terminate the child’s placement, along with the reasons for the change or termination
12. Timely notification of court hearings and right to intervene or request mandamus
13. Be considered as a placement option when a foster child who was formerly placed with the foster parents re-enters DCFS care
14. Access the existing appeals process with the assertion that the appeal will be free from acts of harassment and retaliation.
15. Be informed of the Foster Parent Hotline and the rights for foster parents when reporting misconduct by child welfare personnel

Caregivers have the responsibility to:
1. Communicate and share information with the child welfare team
2. Respect the confidentiality of information about the child and his family
3. Advocate for children in the care of the foster parent
4. Treat the child and his or her family with dignity, respect and consideration
5. Recognize their individual and family strengths and limitations and to utilize appropriate supports as appropriate
6. Be aware of the benefits of relying on and affiliating with other foster parents and foster parent associations
7. Assess their ongoing training needs and take action to meet those needs
8. Strategize with agency representatives to avoid placement disruptions and support the child if disruption occurs
9. Recognize the impact of foster care on relationships and take steps to minimize stress as much as possible
10. Positively promote the benefits of foster parenting
11. Know the role, rights and responsibilities of foster parents, other professionals in the child welfare system, the child, and the child’s own family
12. Know and fulfill their role as a mandated reporter and know policies regarding allegations that foster parents have committed abuse or neglect
13. Know the purpose of and to participate in Administrative Case Reviews, client service plans and court proceedings
14. Know the child welfare agency’s appeal process
15. Maintain accurate records
16. Share information about the placement with subsequent caregivers/parents
17. Provide care that respects the child’s cultural needs supports the relationship between the child and his or her own family
Illinois Adoption Advisory Council update

At the April meeting of the Illinois Adoption Advisory Council, Cheryl McIntire, the statewide adoption administrator provided details on progress made since she took the position last winter.

The council was especially pleased to hear that DCFS is adding staff to support adoption efforts. In Cook County, there will be 15 workers devoted to adoptions and guardianship. Central Region will have 12, Northern Region will be up to seven and Southern Region will have five. Under the new structure, the supervisors now lead teams that will be trained in all aspects of adoption, from permanency planning to writing the subsidy and on to post-adoption support.

“Everyone is a ‘generalist,’ even if they have a specialty. We will move forward with the goal that everyone knows how to do everything,” McIntire said.

She said the staff is excited at the prospect of being able to fully serve families through all the stages of permanency. Additional training is already underway.

McIntire also outlined several initiatives to fine-tune the processes the lead to permanency. She has streamlined subsidy agreement review by setting up intake points in both Springfield and Cook County. She said new software developed to track the subsidy through all its milestones was successful in its pilot. It is planned to launch statewide. With the computerized log, a worker or supervisor can know exactly what needs to happen next and when the next task should be (or should have been) completed. Having everything mapped out and at the ready will make it easier to coordinate between the prospective family, the worker and juvenile court. It should significantly cut the time that it takes to thoroughly and correctly complete a subsidy package.

To be certain children are moving toward permanency within the designated timeframes, McIntire has established monthly meetings to review cases. She and the staff will go will go through cases, child by child, where there is a goal of adoption. They will discuss the child specifically, to troubleshoot and get the right permanency goal and assign tasks. This effort will ensure that the right resources are in place to successfully move the child to permanency.

Call Adoption Support Line: 855-548-5505

The Adoption Support Line allows all adoption-related calls to come to a centralized location. During the move to adoption, a caregiver may be in close contact with the adoption worker. After finalization, sometimes years down the road when there is a question about a subsidy or a new need for services, caregivers may not know who to call. Now they can call support line for answers. Trained responders with adoption experience will be able to answer questions or direct calls for follow up.

The Adoption Support Line has extended hours so caregivers can call outside of the regular business day. Operating hours are from 8:30 a.m. to 8 p.m. (Monday through Thursday) and 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Fridays.

Calls requiring a normal response will be routed to the assigned worker and supervisor for follow-up to occur within 24 business hours.

The Illinois Adoption Advisory Council meets six times a year to discuss issues and make recommendations to DCFS regarding the concerns of adoptive and guardianship families. The Council is made up of parents, professionals in the child welfare field and adopted individuals.

The next meeting of the Illinois Advisory Council will be on June 7 in Bloomingdale at 10 a.m.

Commitment to siblings keeps family growing, and growing...

Eric and Amy McCartney spent several years making their decision to become foster parents, but when they received their foster care license just over four years ago, they jumped in headfirst. In this relatively short period of time the McCartneys have assisted with two successful family reunifications, completed an adoption, enjoyed the birth of their long-awaited second child, and currently are fostering a sibling group of four.

Amy is also a daycare provider. She opened her daycare after their son, Aaron, was born 14 years ago. Becoming foster parents was something Eric and Amy did not take lightly. They told their licensing worker that they wished to begin with one child. She asked if they would consider taking a sibling group of two. Eric and Amy agreed to this because they wanted to prevent siblings from being separated. Soon after they received their foster care license for two children, they were asked to be a home for a sibling group of three.

The ball really started rolling after the first sibling group was successfully reunified. Eric and Amy said yes to a sibling group of five. They actually needed to increase their licensing capacity even further so they could accommodate the newborn sibling. Making room for the additional children was not an easy task. It involved acquiring more beds, swapping bedrooms, and moving lots of furniture. Eric gave up his home office, all in a few days.

To Amy and Eric it is all worth it. Amy said, “I don’t like to separate children.” So she and Eric do what they can to keep siblings together.

After three siblings found a home with relatives, there was again room for more. Ten-year-old Dandi moved in to the McCartney’s home after pre-placement visits and they began their journey toward adoption. Soon after, the McCartneys accepted a placement of two sisters. Then they were asked to care for the girls’ two brothers. Amy and Eric wanted to do what they could to keep this family together, even while she was expecting their second child by birth. So, currently their home is bursting with seven children, ages 14, 12, 8, 6, 5, 4, and 6 months. They all make it work.

“If Amy notes a need that a child may be experiencing, she finds ways to fill it, whether it be by modifying things at home or seeking outside services. She displays unending patience with all the children she cares for,” said Julie Cebulski, foster parent support specialist said.

A home life that to most would seem incredibly difficult boils down to a simple fact for Amy and Eric. “Every child needs someone who is going to hold, hug, kiss, and basically love them like a parent should.”

Amy’s love of children spills over into her daycare also. She is admired by her daycare families. Her daycare licensing representative speaks highly of Amy’s care of children. “Amy’s commitment to working with both foster and daycare children and their families is genuine, realistic, and whole-heartedly focused on the best interest of the child,” she said.

Amy and Eric encourage foster families to consider doing all they can to keep siblings together.
DCFS Administration marks Foster Parent Appreciation Month

The past several months have been filled with transition and change for many of us in the department. Through this time staff has remained vigilant in continuing to provide quality services to our families and children and has remained focused on safety, permanency and well-being for children. Foster parents have continued to play an important role in this work. We also appreciate your patience during the past few months. With the month of May being a time when we focus on our appreciation for foster parents it becomes even clearer what an important role you play in the lives of the children and their families.

I, as regional administrator, value the work you do each and every day with children in order to provide consistency and a sense of well being in their lives. You are a valued member of our team that strives to make a difference, whether it is in reference to education or services that may be needed to address a particular challenge facing a child. You do the daily work in providing a safe and caring environment. You are willing to gain information and insight that will better prepare you to provide support to children in your care. We want to continue to ensure that you are also given the support to fulfill your role, whether it is through training and education or contact with the DCFS worker.

I have often thought back to when I was a caseworker and was trying to secure a foster care home for a child. It was you who always came through! That was in the late 1980s. This is still true today. You, as our team member, open the door to make a difference. Recently one of our investigators was talking to a child and asked him if he knew what DCFS was. The little boy replied, “DCFS is the people that help kids get their parents back.” I believe we all share in this hope. As regional administrator, I want to extend a special thank you to all foster parents for the countless effort and hours you extend to assist children and DCFS staff!

Central Region DCFS Foster Care Advisory Council updates

DCFS offices have been hosting events within the new local foster care advisory council structure to help foster parents gain training credit hours, learn about the organization of the agency, meet staff and voice their concerns. To take part in an upcoming meeting, contact the nearest area office.

Bloomington/Normal hosted a Meet and Greet for DCFS and private agency caregivers with office staff in February. Support specialist Maria Levengood spoke about the Foster Parent Law and Implementation Plan. Area administrator Desiree Silva introduced herself and spoke about the reorganization of the department. Tracy Wolf, new resource/recruitment specialist, explained her role. Juliana Harms spoke to the group about upcoming foster care trainings.

Charleston Field Office also held a Meet and Greet. Caregivers had the opportunity to ask questions after being introduced to the staff. The group enjoyed refreshments together.

Danville Field Office hosted their Local Advisory Council meeting in February. The group learned about the Foster Parent Law and the Central Region Implementation Plan. Foster parent support specialist Julie Cebulski presented a training on positive communication. Placement supervisor Nancy Abbott, licensing worker Renee Cunigan, and foster parent support specialist Darla Knipe were all present to address foster caregiver concerns and questions.

Peoria/Pekin Foster Care Advisory Council hosted a Meet and Greet in February. Next, licensing representatives Willa Guidi and Tamra Purham led a discussion of the foster parent rights and responsibilities, as well as the Central Region Foster Parent Law Implementation Plan. Elizabeth Richmond, a foster parent support specialist, reviewed current and upcoming training opportunities for foster parents. Cathy Smith, area administrator, presented a training on the Child Endangerment Risk Assessment Protocol, focusing on the differences between safety and risk. Michael Ruppe, regional administrator, spoke about the recent agency reorganization and new staff positions.

Springfield hosted a CPR training for foster parents. Regional

• check available trainings;
• view/print your training transcript;
• register and take on-line courses; and
• download course materials to use in class or to access after training.

DIGITAL TRAINING MATERIALS NOW AVAILABLE

As we move into the digital age and aim to use fewer printed resources, DCFS Training has made many PRIDE materials easily available on the home page of the Virtual Training Center at www.dcfstraining.org.

Anyone may print the materials or download them onto almost any electronic device and bring their device to training class. Trainees who have no digital access should speak with their trainers when they arrive in class, so we can accommodate everyone.

Who do you call when....?

...A child in your home is having a psychiatric crisis that may require hospitalization?
Call the CARES line at 800-345-9049. However, if a child is a danger to himself or others, call 911 first. The CARES line is available 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

...You want information on becoming a foster parent or on adoption?
The Adoption Information Center of Illinois (AICI) can answer your questions and connect you with a licensing agency. The toll-free number is 800-572-2390. AICI also maintains information about the children who are featured in the newsletter.

...You have questions about your board check?
Call the DCFS Central Payment Unit at 800-525-0499 if your check comes from DCFS. If your check comes from a private agency, contact the agency.

...You need to report a child missing or have information about a youth who has run away?
To report information on missing youth call 866-503-0184. The toll-free number is available 24 hours a day every day of the week. If you feel the child is in danger, call 911 first.

...Your adoption or guardianship is final but you have questions about the subsidy?
Call the subsidy worker assigned to the case or the Adoption Support Line at 888-96-ADOPT so you can be connected to the right individual for help.

...You feel you aren’t being treated fairly by DCFS or a private agency?
If you’ve already tried to resolve the issue by going up the chain of command with the caseworker and supervisors, then call the Advocacy Office at 800-232-3798.

...You have questions about your child’s medical card?
Call 800-228-6533.

...You need to find a phone number for a caseworker?
Call the main switchboard in Chicago at 312-814-6800 or the State of Illinois Operator at 312-793-3500.

...You are having family problems with your adopted child?
Contact the Adoption/Subsidized Guardianship Preservation Program that serves your area. Call the Adoption Support Line at 888-96-ADOPT.

...You are having a hard time getting services for your child at school?
Most private agencies have an education liaison, and each DCFS region has education advisors who can help. Call your agency or nearest DCFS office to be connected to the right educational resource for your area.

...You have questions about programs for youth approaching adulthood?
Contact the transition coordinator that serves your area, by calling the nearest DCFS regional office. The transition coordinator can advise on programs such as life skills training, preparation for higher education and employment assistance. Details on these programs can also be found at the Get Goal’d website www.youthincare.illinois.gov.

A family for me: Call 1-800-572-2390 for more information

Vasha [7686] Vasha, 13, is a considerate child who likes helping others. She enjoys attending church, participating in Bible study, and visiting with her relatives. She also enjoys singing, dancing, and listening to music. She struggles with self-control at times, but usually responds well when supervised by consistent, responsible adults.

Vasha’s teacher says she is a sweet girl who behaves well in school and tries hard to please others. Vasha’s foster parent says she is capable of following rules and behaving appropriately in the home.

Potential parents to Vasha would be loving and supportive, while also providing clear expectations and regular supervision. Once Vasha is adopted, you can give her plenty of time to adjust to your home. You can also work closely with child welfare professionals to help meet Vasha’s medical and emotional needs, and to encourage continued positive behavior. The ideal family would live in the St. Louis area, and would help Vasha maintain relationships with her siblings and other members of her birth family.

Chris [8008] Chris, 11, is a quiet, polite child who generally cooperates with others. He can be shy at first, but usually warms up to people once he gets to know them. Chris sometimes struggles to manage his emotions, but he has improved significantly in this area. In his spare time, he enjoys watching sports and taking care of animals.

Chris’ worker says he is a friendly child who is easy to get along with. He does well when interacting with other kids in his community.

Chris’ “forever family” can remain patient with Chris as he adjusts to his new, permanent home. You can provide the kind of structure and routine that will put him at ease. You can also work with professionals who can help him manage his emotions. Chris would like to live in a rural area, and would like to join a family that has pets. Chris should be the youngest child in his adoptive home.

Emmit [7908] Good luck convincing Emmitt to stay indoors, because this active, energetic 14-year old loves to play outside. Whether he’s chasing bubbles, playing sports, or helping weed a garden, Emmitt is always happy to be outdoors, enjoying the fresh air. He is particularly eager to visit new places and learn new things. When he does settle down inside the house, Emmitt enjoys playing with magnets and solving simple puzzles. He has been diagnosed with autism, and can become overwhelmed when confronted with loud noises or other excessive stimulation. James is 10 years old.

James’ worker says he is an outgoing child who is both friendly and well-mannered. He has a wonderful imagination, and can entertain himself for hours on end.

The family for James can monitor his behavior and provide redirection to help him stay on task. You can also learn about autism, so you can become an effective advocate for him, both educationally and emotionally. The ideal family would include children who are roughly the same age as James, and would also help him maintain relationships with his siblings, including regular visits.

Please call the Adoption Information Center of Illinois at 1-800-572-2390, or see the AICI Web site – www.adoptinfo-il.org if you are interested in adopting one of these children or learning about other children waiting to be adopted.
