ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OBJECTION TO ELECTRONIC FORMAT

LISA MADIGAN, Attorney General of the State of Illinois, pursuant to Section 3-108 of the Administrative Review Law and Section 8.10 of the Illinois Surface Coal Mining Land Conservation and Reclamation Act, and in order to facilitate judicial review of a final administrative decision issued on September 15, 2009, by the ILLINOIS DEPARTMENT OF NATURAL RESOURCES, respectfully objects to the Motion for Extension to Answer with Record and states as follows:

1. The Attorney General received service of the Department's Motion on November 20, 2009. The Court entered an Order on November 19, 2009, granting the Motion.
2. The Attorney General objects only to the filing of the administrative record in an electronic format and does not object to the extended deadline of January 19, 2010. However, the request for an extended deadline is apparently premised upon a mistaken belief that copies of the administrative record to be filed as the Department's Answer must be served on all parties.
3. The Department's Motion indicates that it intends to scan and number the documents, including the hearing transcripts, as well as the photographs, maps, engineering diagrams, and other admitted exhibits, comprising the existing administrative record for filing in an electronic format and "for distribution to all parties." The Department's Motion estimates that the total cumulative pages of the existing administrative record exceeds 7,000 and that a "bound paper version" would number more than twenty binders.
4. Section 3-108(b) of the Administrative Review Law requires that the administrative agency's answer "shall consist of the original or a certified copy of the entire record of [the] proceedings under review, including such evidence as may have been heard by it and the findings and decisions made by it." None of the provisions of the Administrative Review Law requires the administrative agency to generate additional copies "for distribution to all parties" or even to file a "bound paper version" of the existing administrative record.
5. Counsel for the Plaintiff has communicated with counsel for the Department subsequent to receipt of the Motion and represented to her that the scanning, numbering and distribution of the existing administrative record are unnecessary. Counsel for the Department indicated that she would still proceed with this effort to file its Answer in an electronic format.

6. The Attorney General objects to electronic format as an unnecessary and inconvenient substitute for the original documents because many of the exhibits admitted during the administrative review proceeding by the Department's hearing officer contain photographs and oversized maps and engineering diagrams, the probative value of which might be literally diminished through the scanning process. For instance, Department Exhibit 3 is a colored topographic map depicting the permit area and the adjacent resources, including the protected fish and wildlife areas and natural areas, and measures 36 inches by 39 inches; any reduction of this exhibit would result in a loss of detail and render viewing more difficult. Additionally, the electronic Bates stamping would create a numbered reference system that did not exist during the hearing and subsequent briefing; without a comprehensive index, this new system would not be feasible or convenient for the Court's review.

7. The Attorney General believes that original of the existing administrative record, which is in the possession of the Department and its hearing officer, ought to be filed instead of the requested electronic format and that any problems caused by reviewing and searching electronic disks would detrimentally affect the Court's consideration of whether the final administrative decision is against the manifest weight of the evidence. For instance, the review of fifteen volumes of hearing transcripts (2,970 pages in total) may be more difficult on a computer screen especially if the particular exhibits are to be referred to during the reading of the testimony about the exhibits. As noted, a cross-index to the electronic Bates number would be necessary to locate any particular exhibit. The possibility of confusion or even prejudice outweighs any benefits of an electronic format.

WHEREFORE, the Attorney General prays that an Order be entered requiring the Department to comply with Section 3-108(b) of the Administrative Review Law by filing as its Answer the original existing administrative record no later than January 19, 2010.

Respectfully submitted,
LISA MADIGAN
Attorney General of the State of Illinois
