PAST DUE PAYMENT NOTICE

According to our records, you have fallen behind with your child support payments. This may be because your employer is not deducting in the same manner that your support order requires. If this continues, you will stay behind and, after 30 days, interest will be charged. If you remain behind in support payments you could become eligible for various enforcement remedies including driver's license suspension. If you are unable to make your ordered payments you may contact us at 1-800-447-4278 to discuss the possible review of your case for a modification.

Your current support obligation is as follows:
()

Our records show you paid $() in ().

Make your past due payment of $() now to the Illinois State Disbursement Unit at ().

If you have made payments not included in our records, please call the Customer Service Call Center at 1-800-447-4278 and let us know. We will ask you to verify the payments.

Balance information can also be obtained on the child support website: www.childsupport.illinois.gov just click on Account Balance.

If you do not have your ordered child support deducted through an employer, you can have it automatically deducted from your checking, savings or money market account by registering on line at www.expertpay.com to establish recurring automated payments. Obligors will have to register to use this service and pay a one-time registration fee of $2.50. You may also make child support payments using your credit card either online at www.e-childspay.com or by calling 1-866-645-6348.
