I. POLICY

Credit on the sentence of an individual in custody who has escaped shall cease running at the time of the escape. Upon the individual's return to the custody of the Department, the sentence shall be recalculated in accordance with the procedure established in this directive.

II. PROCEDURE

A. Purpose

The purpose of this directive is to establish a written procedure for the calculation of time lost on escape.

B. Applicability

This directive is applicable to all correctional facilities within the Department.

C. Facility Reviews

A facility review of this directive is covered under the facility reviews conducted at least annually for Administrative Directive 01.07.400.

D. General Provisions

The period of time between the date an individual in custody escaped to the date of recustody shall be calculated as time lost on escape.

E. Calculation

1. All calculations required in accordance with this directive shall be completed with the Time Lost on Escape When Sentence is Determinate Under 1978 Law, DOC 0619.
2. Record the recustody date, which shall be the date the individual in custody was taken into custody by either law enforcement officials or the Department after the escape and subtract the date of escape to determine the time lost on escape.
3. Record the custody date as established in the master record file and add the sentence less good conduct credits to determine the projected out date. If this was a sentence entered under the Indeterminate Law and the individual in custody has accepted dates set by the Prisoner Review Board (PRB), record the projected out date as set by the PRB and add or subtract any previous time lost or awarded to determine the projected out date. Add the time lost on escape as determined in Step 1 to determine the adjusted projected out date.

If this was a sentence entered under the Indeterminate Law and the individual in custody has accepted dates set by the PRB, record the mandatory out date as set by the PRB and add the time lost on escape to determine the adjusted mandatory out date.

NOTE: Results of the calculations shall be shared with the individual in custody.
