Minutes after delivery, a midwife in training from American Refugee Committee's Afghan Youth Skill Development Program in Pakistan looks admiringly at this newborn.

The Salvation Army World Service Office (SAWSO) has a newly launched education sector strategy which focuses on improving learning outcomes by building teacher capacity; increasing access to effective teaching and learning materials; facilitating access to vocational training for youth; and engaging with family and community members to help them support and participate in their children's education.

With the support of donors like you, IOCC has drilled 12 wells in Tanzania to provide safe, reliable and clean water to 25,000 people.
