AMITA Health stated the following: “AMITA Health has gone through a significant organizational transformation over the past three years, due in major part, but not entirely, to the adding of the former Presence Health hospitals to the system. During this process data collection and reporting responsibilities have shifted and evolved, as has the primary health records system used by AMITA. Also, it has come to AMITA’s attention that the manner in which data is to be reported through the Annual Hospital Questionnaires (“AHQs”) differs from the manner in which data is collected and used internally. As a result of inconsistencies identified over the past year, AMITA is taking steps to assure that data reported on the AHQs is being reported in a manner consistent with the AHQ’s definitions, and that discrepancies will be addressed and minimized in the future.”
